Team discipline vital factor in checking field brawls

BOB WALKER

Last Friday night's incident at Lidcombe Oval — greatly magnified by some people — could easily have been avoided.

In my opinion the incident would never have happened had some players restrained their feelings.

It was their lack of decorum and discipline that fanned a "flicker" into what could have been a "blaze".

Clubs are held responsible for the conduct of their players on the field.

I am certain that well disciplined teams will go a long way towards avoiding further incidents.

Another feature contributing to this state of affairs is the poor standard of refereeing.

The Federation should tackle this problem immediately.

No doubt, Mr Iredale's refereeing was at times hard to follow.

Certain incidents were allowed to pass without a ruling while others, which had a drastic effect on the result, were "seen" to the deteriment of the game as a spectacle.

Until the penalty incident the crowd was screaming, shouting and applauding the game with enthusiasm.

Suddenly the life was take from it and it ended rather tamely.

The incident happened at such an early stage of the season that steps must be taken to prevent repetition.

Firstly a panel of referees must be selected to control first grade games.

Only men from this panel should be utilised at all key matches.

Mr A. BROWN
Referees President

They must be men of ability, courage and character to whom all players, officials and public will show the utmost respect.

I do not condone what happened, nor was I enthusiastic about Mr Iredale's refereeing.

Never-the-less he did his best.

He did what he thought was right and, irrespective of his rulings, no-one has the right to threaten him physically.

Soccer is a sport and if you happen to be a spectator, then shout your "head off" if you approve or disapprove, but for heaven's sake never resort to physical violence.

Players' and referees' and your own lives could be endangered.

Should you be a club administrator, remember the game is in your hands, your actions may be judged by your team's performance on the field, both in playing and disciplinary standards.

Club publicity men are requested to keep up their supply of news for inclusion in each issue of "Soccer World" and players photographs are especially required for featuring in subsequent issues.

Second Div. stronger this year

Early indications are that the standard of play in the Second and Third Divisions will be much higher this season.

The lower divisions are hoping that they will be able to make substantial progress in bridging the gap between themselves and the First Division.

The amalgamation of the Eastern and Western Groups has considerably strengthened the Second Division and the prospects of the promotion as well as premiership honors will give competition that added keenness.

On Saturday, the Blacktown —White Eagles, Polonia—Concordia, Lidcombe—Dalmatinac and Pan Hellenic—Sutherland games will be the most importants.

On Easter Monday, the Dalmatinac—Pan Hellenic, Julia—Lidcombe, Corinthians—Blacktown and Sutherland—Polonia are the outstanding matches.

BRAZIL CLEAR WORLD LEADER

By A. TUSON

Dr. Willy Meisl, co-editor of the magazine World Sports, and an acknowledged soccer authority, has published his annual rankings of the leading soccer countries.

His rankings are mainly based on the World Cup series in Stockholm last year.

He makes four groups:

1. Brazil,

2. France, Sweden, Germany and Yugoslavia,

3. England, Argentine, Uruguay, Spain, Bulgaria, Russia and Italy.

4. Northern Ireland, Peru, Hungary, Wales, Scotland, Chile, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Holland and Paraguay.

Significant in the rankings is the decline of Hungary, which was on the top four years ago.

Now it's just one of the fourth group, with nine other very mediocre teams.

Sweden and Yugoslavia held their positions, and France joined them since the World Cup.

Argentina, Uruguay and Russia lost some of their prestige, but Bulgaria gained.

England and Spain did not change much.

Most of the fourth-group have been there a long time, except Austria and Czechoslovakia.

These last two teams have slipped considerably in recent

Prospects bright for better, more entertainingg football

What a feast of soccer awaits fans in the forthcoming season.

The intense training programme begun last November is already showing in the high standard displayed in trial and Ampol games so far.

In addition, nearly all clubs have added to their playing staff by means of transfers and migration etc.

As a consequence some big names will add to the glamour of Federation promotions this year.

Prague's new names include Schwartz, a youngster from Austria, who replaced Baumgartner, in FK Austria's team, on his departure for Australia.

Another is Hungarian international Andreas Saghi, and yet another Walter Tammandl, who toured Australia with FK Austria some three years ago.

Early indications are that Prague will have an all Continental forward line, as two more stars are reported to be lined up for the new season.

International O'Neill from Cessnock, together with recent purchase, Sherwin, will considerably strenghen that club's defence.

Gladesville have lost a couple of stars, but never-the-less made a sensational scoop in signing Greenfield,, Leichhardt's brilliant international halfback.

John Pettigrew, Australian international full back from Cessnock, is another of Gladesville's fine signings.

And only in the last week Gladesville were successful in securing Newcastle forwards Lewisham and Thompson, which has enabled the club to completely reorganise its forward line.

ANDREAS SAGHI

Hakoah have ex-World Cup star in Scotsman Jock Aird, back from New Zeleand.

Aird played for Scotland in Switzerland in the 1954 series.

Burgoyne down from Newcastle was runner-up to Morrow as highest goalscorer last season.

Auburn made a scoop when they signed on Bruce Morrow, Wallsend's brilliant international forward.

Morrow played outstanding soccer against Blackpool last year and was invited to England to play professionally

THE BIG KICK-OFF

98 teams in opening of boom season

Ninety-eight teams in three divisions kick-off the Federation's competition season this weekend, with a full round of matches tomorrow and again Easter Monday.

In addition, four First Division and four Second Division teams play on Sunday.

A whole variety of what promises to be keen and entertaining First Division games make it tough for soccer fans to decide which to patronise.

APIA v Gladesville, Budapest v Balgownie, Granville v Prague and Hakoah v Auburn are all attractive fixtures.

Again, on the Sunday and Monday, such fixtures as Bankstown v Canterbury (at Arlington), Auburn v APIA, Balgownie v Bankstown, Concord v Hakoah, Canterbury v Corrimal and Prague v Budapest complete what appears to be a grand opening programme for the 1959 season.

Colorful Italian

APIA will have to be at their very best to topple Gladesville, who have been building up quietly behind thhe scenes.

Coach Polgar, of APIA, now appears to have some godd working material and fans should see the results of his efforts this season.

The inclusion of Marston should provide plenty of support and experience for the younger elements in the team.

Big Italian centre forward Schio will give his supporters quietly behind the scenes.

This colorful six-footer will be a handful for McComish.

But no doubt Schio will find McComish a cagey and experienced player to overcome.

APIA like Gladesville appear sound in defence.

The performance of their respective forwards hold the key to this game.

Team work

Can Gladesville's new found forward's blend together at this stage?

If so, then APIA's task is a difficult one.

However, APIA have been playing well in trials and players have been associated with each other for many weeks, which could turn the scale in their favor.

Budapest and Balgownie, both newcomers to Federation first grade, will be eager to win their first game.

Both showed up well in the Ampol series with brilliant displays of soccer.

The outcome of this match could depend on Budapest forwards.

If they can finish off their brilliant leading-up play they will win.

However, Balgownie have a sound defence and this could prove the undoing of Galambos and company.

Players like Garipoli and Lunardon, Italians recently acquired from EPT, have fitted nicely into Balgownie's pattern.

APIA manager

Letters to the Editor

Overseas traveller impressed

After an absence of four years I have found soccer improved out of sight in Sydney

From what I have seen since my return I can assure you that the Federation has one team — Prague — that could play with distinction in any overseas First Div. competition, and four others — Auburn, Canterbury, APIA and Corrimal, and even possibly Hakoah, that could head any European or British Second Division ladder.

Today, soccer in this city has reached an amazingly high standard.

I believe that very soon Australia will be able to field a team in top international competitions that will put this country on the map in soccer.

The talent is there and the Federation seems determined to make the most of it.

Soccer has a great future here and I predict that in less than 10 years the code will be the major one in Sydney.

Rugby League is on the way down — as to Rugby Union, soccer has arleady completely overtaken it as the second winter sport.

I would also like to congratulate your paper for its very interesting issues and I would like to point out that you are very well informed on overseas events and your items of international news are first class and really up-to-date.

Jack Gernovic.

Aust. Association urged to act

To the Australian Soccer Football Association may I say this —

In the interests of soccer fans, of whom I am a keen one, the soccer "war'must end now.

Let us get together and settle the arguments in the proper way.

The NSW Association has lost all its good players to the Federation, and who can blame them for going to an organisation with a bright future.

A combined effort now by all concerned will make soccer forge ahead to a greater future, and if your organisation doesn't act, then FIFA will.

The old saying, "United we stand, divided we fall", is worth remembering.

Soccer should have been Australia's No. 1 football code 60 years go — so let's get cracking now and put it in its rightful place as quickly as possible.

Keith Thompson,
Gladesville.

Wants advantage rule banned

Something must done to stop demonstrations such as that at Lidcombe Oval last Friday.

There was no doubt that Referee Iredale was right in imposing a penalty — pushing is a penalty offence.

But more fouls took place on the field and play was waved on under application of the advantage rule.

I think the system is all wrong where it is left to the referee to order play to go on "if in his opinion the other player gets the advantage".

Perhaps if the Federation banned the advantage rule we would see cleaner football.

J. Coats, Marrickville.

Junior Associations keen to co-operate in coaching classes

The Federation coaching scheme got off to a good start Monday, when 20 junior coaches received their first lesson.

Mr Vivian Chalwin, FA coach,

MR. CHALWIN

conducted the first lesson at his home in Cremorne.

Most Junior Associations are availing themselves of the opportunity presented by the Federation.

Nearly all districts are represented, although some would like the course to take place in their own districts.

In this regard, further time will be required to organise those schools.

Any district not yet represented would be well advised to contact the Coaching Panel acting secretary, Mr Jim Bellwood, UJ 8974, immediately.

When the tremendous initial response is considered, all future applicants will have to be carefully selected.

In Bankstown alone, about 40 team managers applied for the course.

Mr Chalwin made an excellent impression in the first lesson.

Young aspirants could not but be impressed with his simple explanation of the fundamentals of coaching soccer.

In all, about 200 junior coaches should be available to junior organisations this year.

Victorian Notes

By L. K. STONE

The State League opens its season this weekend with these fixtures:

SATURDAY: JUST v Hakoah, Geelong v Juventus, Footscray v Slavia, Moreland v George Gross, Yarra Park v Wilhelmina, Polonia v Box Hill.

MONDAY: Slavia v JUST, Hakoah v Geelong, George Cross v Footscray, Wilhelmina v Moreland, Box Hill v Yarra Park, Juventus v Polonia.

First Division South and North will open their League programme on the April 4 with these matches:

SOUTH: Park Rangers v Brighton, Vict. Police v South Melbourne, South Yarra v Dandenong, Richmond v Yallourn, Melbourne v Prahran.

NORTH: Sunshine City v Lions Hayduck, Preston v Croatia, Maccabi v Coburg, Corio v Scicilia, Hellenic v Brunswick.

Indications are that Juventus, George Cross and Hakoah will again enjoy a large following.

Polonia, Wilhelmina, JUST and Slavia cannot complain in this respect either and they are also financially sound.

But it is amazing that attractive teams such as Moreland and Box Hill have very little support compared to the other State League teams.

Newcomers Yarra Park, predominently Greek, and Footscray (Italian) are unknown quantities.

From a playing point of view, Juventus and Wilhelmina look the strongest.

In the lower division, relegated Hellenic, Richmond Alamainia — a team of ex-Germans — and Hungarian team Melbourne SC are capable of drawing good crowds.

Yallourn, from industrial Gippsland, are always well supported at home.

These clubs and South Melbourne are the most likely to gain promotion.

The Southern Division looks far stronger than the Northern.

Leichhardt backed the loser

BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

Indications are that the Leichhardt club will go out of existence.

When the Federation was founded the then secretary of Leichhardt, Harry Miller, committed the club to the new organisation.

Miller was immediately kicked out of the club and rabid Association supporters took over.

These same supporters thought that the breakaways would soon disintegrate without the support of Leichhardt.

Leichhardt had numerous opportunities to join the Federation, but despite the loss of their leading players they followed the lost cause of the Association.

For years Leichhardt was given all the plums by the Association, which made sure that even if the club was not playing, its ground, Lambert Park, would be used for all main games.

As a result, other clubs with good grounds were seething with discontent at the mollycodding of Leichhardt.

All that has been changed by the Federation.

The Federation has made Sydney Athletic Field into their biggest drawing ground, and also has helped to popularise Arlington and Lidcombe ovals by staging big games on these arenas.

Now Lambert Park is in the Federation and use of that ground will be a matter for its Management Committee.

The name of Leichhardt is fading from the minds of soccer fans and in it's place has appeared another Leichhardt district club, APIA, which has shown in no uncertain manner the true meaning of assimilation.

APIA is the club which will take over the old Leichhardt following and the code will be the richer for it.

Prospects bright for better football bury is also an acquisition to the club.

Budapest, newcomers to the league, having won promotion last season, will be an attraction.

They play a delightful style of soccer and should do well.

Voros on the wing and Galambos at centre forward are two outstanding players, who should do well in the higher sphere.

Pompor and Schopf, together with some fine young talent, we feel will delight many soccer fans this season.

Young Canterbury "will-o-the-wisps" never fail to provide entertainment for soccer followers.

APIA and North Side will also be stronger than last season.

North Side made a decided gain in Wong, the Malayan international, C. Chaning, and J. Foster, 22-year-old right winger from West Wallsend.

Formidable forwards

In three weeks B. Taber, playing First Grade cricket, at present will be available.

These four players, along with K. Dingwall should make a formidable forward line.

APIA have added several stars in Davanzo from Bankstown Schio, a 6ft. 6in. giant from Italy, Turella from Wallsend and the youthful Hungarian Vasváry, to their already formidable line-up.

Marston, of Preston North End, will considerably strengthen their defensive position.

Corrimal, too, are relying on last season's experienced and talented team.

They never vary much from their solid game, which has got results.

Coach Baryant has joined this club and we are confident he will be popular down south

Together with this array of stars is the teamwork and combination associated with Federation clubs since its inception.

We are confident that the Federation will progress towards fields unlimited.

There will be no slackening off until the ultimate has been achieved — Australian soccer on a par with the world's best.

50 TEAMS IN SUTHERLAND

"ONE OF THE WEIRD MOB"

By a Special Correspondent

A Sunday newspaper writer is horrified to think that Prague is building its strength to the detriment of the FK Austria team.

He is also horrified to think that Prague is receiving special favors from the Department of Imigration in bringing European players to Australia.

Now, let's put the Federation viewpoint.

When the Federation was founded it promised the soccer public that it would do everything in its power to build up the game.

In doing so, thanks to the enterprise of Prague, a leading Austrian team has lost some of its players.

Now, let us admit, we feel no twinges of remorse nor any pangs of sympathy for FK Austria.

In fact, the Federation would like to be able to get more players from Austria and place them with its various clubs.

That would certainly weaken Austrian teams, but wouldn't it make our soccer that much stronger?

In fact, while the Federation is outside the pale of the almighty FIFA it could go further and make some handsome offers to Scottish and English players.

And if the Federation continues its present rate of progress, this could be a big possibility.

Better off here

Don't tell me that some of the leading English professionals on their fixed wage of £16 or £17 would not be better off in Australia?

And, on top of that, we also have a decent sort of a climate.

A popular Australian author made a great hit by calling his countrymen "a weird mob", and I can't help agreeing with him.

Fancy a small organisation, founded in Australia, being a worry to FIFA.

For that is what the Federation is and will continue to be, but not always so small.

Now, let's get on to the immigration angle.

Football clubs have been bringing out migrant players for years, but only from English and Scottish clubs.

Ted Hillyard, Ron Barrass, Jim Pretswell, Len Quested, Bill Westwater and many others all come to Australia with assistance to play here.

Bankstown have just landed a new English player, and other clubs have several on offer.

Why shouldn't an assisted migrant footballer make a good Australian citizen?

All those that I know are certainly not a drag on the community, and all are pulling their weight in helping Australia to become a better country.

All right, so we are a weird mob, but if doing something for Australian soccer comes under that heading, then we are happy to be one of the mob and to keep on being that way.

Victoria urged to get tourists

FROM L. K. STONE

Through the medium of the "Soccer World", news has reached us in Melbourne, that the NSW Federation of soccer clubs has invited the Costa Rican national champion team, Depotivo Saprissa, to Australia.

Already at Victorian soccer grounds, this has given food for much discussion amongst soccer-hungry fans.

Although attempts will be made to stop this Federation sponsored-tour by certain nearsighted soccer authorities, it is hoped that these gentlemen, in the interest of soccer in general, will fail.

I feel that my opinion is shared by the vast majority of the Victorian soccer public.

A jibe often made about football is that soccer clubs and associations are run by business-man who lose their business acumen the minute they step through the club door or are appointed soccer administrators.

Olympic Park game mooted

How true this is in the case of any objector to the tour of the champion team from Costa Rica.

Now take the case of Victoria.

Would it not be an obvious move to contact the NSW Federation, with the view of bringing these soccer artists to our magnificent Olympic Park to oppose a Victorian eleven.

There would be no "crazy spending" involved as irrespective of our interest for such a game, the Federation is financing the tour.

A large crowd would be at Olympic Park to see such an attractive fixture.

Consequently it would mean more money for the VASFA, which could be diverted to the development of the game.

Indeed, it would be a wise investment for the benefit of soccer in this State.

Opposition from officials feared

Despite the fact that here is an oppurtunity falling into the laps of the soccer leaders in Victoria some officials will use every possible means to block it.

I am not saying there are such poor officials in Victoria, on the contrary, this State is led by exceedingly capable men, otherwise they would soon be in the same position as the NSW Association, but there may be some who might stop other more progressive minds.

When every official has learned the meaning of "give and take", which is an essential in the development of this great game, in Australia, then we can expect with pride, world recognition in soccer.

R. Perkinson testimonial

Canterbury-Marrickville has announced that the Roy Parkinson testimonial match will be played at the Sydney Athletic Field on Sunday, April 19.

The game was to have been staged last season but was cancelled because of bad weather.

As last year's premiers, Canterbury will meet a selected Federation team, which should ensure fans of football of a high standard.

Persons holding tickets for the fixture which was cancelled will be admitted on producing their tickets at the turnstiles.

The Big Kick-off — from Page One

This should be a very interesting match.

Corrimal cannot afford to take Concord too lightly.

The Concord boys are young and eager.

They have been training since November last year and are conditioned to see out a fast 90 minutes.

Young McFarlan will get plenty of experience from his "duel" with Learmarmonth.

Hillyard should afford him plenty of support, while Bilbey in the forwards, could make it interesting for Bignall, Young and Devlin.

The Hakoah—Auburn game could be classed as the "match of the day".

In the Ampol series, Hakoah showed up well and should have defeated Auburn.

Auburn never let-up, but with Quested and Morrow to look after, Walsh and Schussig will have to be at their very best.

This should be a game worth watching.

North Side, at Gladesville, should defeat Sydney Austral, who have been finding difficulty lately.

Sydney Austral have some good material but lack penetration in the forwards.

Granville v Prague is the big question mark.

How will Prague perform on the confined area of McArthur Park?

Can the young Granville team rise to the occasion or will Baumgartner and his boys prove too much for the locals in their first and all important game.

them long to get to the top.

Just as we go to print I have received the good news that both St. George clubs have united.

While this is yet another blow to the old boys of the Association I am confident that as far as the Second Division goes, it will contribute and help to lift the standard in the Division.

I have no doubt that Mr R. Pearson, the secretary of Federation St. George, played quite a part in this unity move.

Mr Pearson, and all who took part in this new set-up, have our congratulations and I trust that a good season is ahead for the club.

Double up

Last Sunday Corinthians played Lidcombe-Clyde.

Am told that quite a few players had to play in both games and as a consequence again the result (which was 3—1 for Corinthians) was no definite indication of the real strength of these clubs.

V. Ranovinstky and D. Trebolt of Lidcombe and the left half of Corinthians were outstanding.

As I have said before, Neerlandia have a very strong team.

Just how strong I didn't realise, but my informant has told me that quite a few faces were very red at the week-end.

The other team which was in a crushing defeat I will not name, but from people who saw the game I understand that Neerlandia are a first-class combination.

At the first meeting between Second and Third Division clubs last week, 38 delegates from 22 clubs attended.

This was probably the best attended meeting of its kind since the start of the Federation.

The burning question, however, is what happened to the other six clubs?

The organisation will not be happy till all clubs appear and take part in these meetings.

On Monday last, the Federation gave its blessing to regular monthly meetings of Second and Third Division.

The dates will be published as soon as possible.

Points decided upon were:

- Admission charges for both Divisions to be 2/-;
- Office bearers for the season: H. Byrne, President; L. Farr sen. vice-president; S. Vella; jun. vice president; J. Patterson, minute secretary.

Please note once again that all information regarding Second Division should be sent to my address at 56 Aston St., Rosehill, and that all Third Division information be sent to Mr S. Vella, 26 Ney St., Mascot.

This is important!

E. Germany hold swiss to draw

By LUCIEN GAUTIER

A crowd of 35,000 at Berne's Wankdorf Stadium saw East German champions Wismuth Karlmarxstadt hold Swiss team Young Boys to a 2—2 draw in the first leg of their European Cup quarter final.

The big panel of European experts which attended the night match declared itself very impressed by the East Germans and was unanimous in agreeing that Wismuth was vastly superior to any present West German club side.

The Berne players were in much better physical condition than their slightly-built opponents, but could not match the Germans' accuracy at goal and fmesse.

The Swiss opened the score — rather luckily — when center forward Meier snapped an unexpected rebound and banged home a goal at close range.

Five minutes before half-time Wagner made it 1—1 for Wismuth and the Germans were the better team in the second half.

Berne again took the lead thanks to Rey, but it was only justice that the Germans equalised in the last 5 minutes.

The return match in East Germany should see Wismuth qualify for the semis, where they will meet the French team Rheims.

It was refreshing after the Real-Vienna brawl to see a sporting crowd which applauded without discrimination every good move, whether German or Swiss.

Teams were: Young Boys Berne: Eich; Ahnd, Steffen; Bigler, Schnyder, Schneider; Wechselsberger, Rey, Allemand, Meiter, Fluckiger.

Wismuth Karlmarxstadt: Theile; Wolf, Müller; Wagner, S. Wolf, M. Kaiser; Zink, erler, Troeger, Killerman, S. Kaiser.

Here, There, and Everywhere

SPANISH team Barcelona, which includes Hungarians Kubala, Kocsis and Czibor, has taken a two-point lead over famous Real Madrid, which could only draw 0—0 with lowly rated Valencia.

The Catalans seem to have won the national title for the first time in six years.

Real is pinning its hopes on the European Cup, where they will be trying to retain their title for the fourth year running.

FRENCH STAR Kopa — voted Europe's best for 1958 — is to leave Real Madrid in June this year to return to France.

He is certain to play for the newly promoted Paris team Stade Francais, which could be built into France's top team now that crack Rheims club seems definitely on the way out.

But as far as national games are concerned they still have a great chance to play the European Cup final in Hanover late May.

THE INTERNATIONAL junior's competition is to be staged in Bulgaria and when we go to press the first round matches will be under way.

Spain, France, Italy or England are expected to share top placings.

Italy won the crown from England last year with France third.

East Europeans have never done well in junior ranks since the 1956 Hungarian uprising when the Hungarians had the best juniors on the Continent.

These up and coming players are now scattered all over the world — Szalai plays in Spain, Mathesz in Austria and Sydney has Saghi, who plays for star-studded Prague.

HAVING BANNED all Communist nation's teams Malta is now turning to Mediteranean countries for the bulk of its touring teams.

Morocco recently played a scoreless draw at Valetta and French Second Division club Cannes will visit the George Cross island about May.

THE PERUVIAN national team caused one of the greatest upsets in modern times when they held world champions Brazil to a 2—2 draw in the first match of the South American tournament.

Peru thrilled the crowd of 80,000 which packed River Plate Stadium in Buenos-Aires when they scored two goals in the last 15 minutes, after being down 2—0 at half-time.

The Peruvians were the equals of the mighty Brazil team and their star, Seminario, is now rated in the same class as Brazilian wonders Garrincha and Pele.

Peru continued their run of success when they trounced the fancied Uruguay side 5—3.

They are now in the lead with Argentina, which crushed Chile 6—1 and Bolivia 2—0.

It is, however, expected that Brazil will still win the South American crown in spite of their draw with Peru.

The world champions had an easy 3—0 win over the ill-fated Chileans, who will have to improve is they are to impress in the next World Cup, which will be played in 1962 in their country.

Uruguay continues to disappoint and seem to be fielding a team of has-beens.

Peru, Brazil and the home team, Argentina, should stage a thrilling battle for the coveted first place.

Incidentally Brazil has not won a South American title since 1949.

FROM the SIDELINES

By TAD TARG

NO MORE EXPERIMENTS — PLEASE.

I might have caused it all.

By praising referees that is. Mea culpa!

But, if you recall, I did not advocate continuous trials of referees in First Division matches.

All I wanted was to find seven good referees and, after completion of the fourth consecutive night in the Ampol Series, I thought we h a d seven good ones.

I suggest now — it's not too late — that these seven be retained for First Division and a l l o t h e r s tried out in Second and Third Division before officiating in First Div.

Bad luck for some, but the o n l y w a y o u t.

TAKING AN ACTIVE PART.

I don't believe spectators should sit calmly throughout a match like a flock of sheep.

After all they come for the enjoyment and e x c i t e m e n t that the game provides.

They like to applaud, boo and whistle, shout "advice", call "off side", abuse the referee, even swear a little...

It is part of the game the world over.

It adds flavor and creates the a t m o s p h e r e.

But, this is where it should end.

Physical participation is in rather bad taste...

THE RIGHT TO BE WRONG.

The referee obviusly was open to criticsm in quite a few decisions.

In one, almost all of the 6117 spectators thought he was wrong.

But, a man must have the r i g h t t o b e w r o n g.

It is the basis of t o l e r a n c e and, consequently, d e m o c r a c y.

TOLERANCE—ALL THAT'S WANTED.

The majority of Europeans have come here because they were denied tolerance, freedom and the RIGHT TO BE WRONG at home.

It seems odd, that some of them, undoubtedly a very small minority, deny the same right to a man, who — after all — tries hard within his ability to referee a match.

If they would just stop and think — and let the Federation take care of the rest.

THE INCIDENTS last Friday could have been stopped by two groups of people.

Hakoah players, had they stayed with the referee, would have stood a good chance of preventing chaos, but only Kurt Spiegel, a fine sportsman, stayed with him.

The three police officers who disappeared 10 minutes before end, could have stopped trouble.

One police uniform would have been sufficient to disperse the crowd.

FINALLY in defence of the few "Irresponsibles".

The European has seen so much injustice in his short life, that he can stand it no longer.

He is more excitable than the British, and is ever ready to protect, what he considers, f a i r p l a y.

Unfortunately, one cannot employ f o u l m e a n s, to protect f a i r p l a y.

MAY BE you feel I am not qualified to comment on New Australians.

Well, I am one.

years, but nearly not so much as the Hungarians.

The next soccer World Cup will be held in 1962 in Chile where an All-British side will compete for the first time.

English soccer, after a promising upward tendency, is in doldrums again.

The position is no better in Scotland, Wales and Northern-Ireland.

General European opinion about the stagnation is that the administrative side of the code in Britain has not kept up with modern trends.
